

Nexsen Pruet's 20th Annual In-House Counsel Ethics Seminar

Related Professionals

John Bruton
803.540.2186
jbruton@nexsenpruet.com

Jennifer S. Cluverius
864.282.1169
jcluverius@nexsenpruet.com

Bobby Robinson
704.338.5328
BRobinson@nexsenpruet.com

Michael Traynham
803.540.2164
MTraynham@nexsenpruet.com

Practices

Employment & Labor Law

WebEx

11.05.2021 | 12:00-4:30pm

Nexsen Pruet has partnered with Krill Strategies for its Annual In-House Counsel Ethics Seminar, featuring keynote speaker Patrick Krill.

From a sustainability and productivity standpoint, legal employers are increasingly concerned about the health and well-being of their team members. The unprecedented impacts of COVID-19 on mental health and well-being have only exacerbated existing, problematic trends within the legal profession, as society grapples with significant spikes in mental health problems, burnout, and addiction.

Mental health awareness and an emphasis on positive well-being have always contributed to organizational success, but now they may also help mitigate the problems caused by the global pandemic, thereby making them an important strategic priority that can clearly provide a springboard to success and a competitive advantage.

This seminar will cover various topics relating to the impacts of COVID-19 and how to adjust in the legal industry considering new employer requirements.

Topics

- Employment Law Updates and Hot Topics
- Mental Health and Substance Abuse
- Legal Ethics
- And More...

SC & NC CLE applied for to include: 2 ethics/professional responsibility credits and 1 substance abuse/mental health credit.

View Recording